INSTRUCTIONS FOR CONTRIBUTORS

European Journal of Neurodegenerative Diseases is published every four months. During the first three years the Journal will publish only reviews by famous scientists invited by the Editor-in-Chief and by members of the Editorial Board. However, any individual who would like to submit a review for this Journal is welcome to propose a topic for the editor's consideration. After a three years period the Editorial Board will consider the publication of original papers. The Journal will provide a series of reviews which include morphological, ultrastructural, physiological, pathophysiological, molecular, biochemical, bioenergetics, pharmacological, therapeutic, translational, biomarkers and regulatory aspects of neurodegenerative diseases. Articles should be designed to help researchers keep abreast of advances in knowledge in the field of the topics which will be the object of the reviews. Articles should be written by Authors who have long and highly competent experience in the topic to be reviewed.

Only articles written in English will be published. Articles will be subject to peer review and the scientific standard is the only criterion for accepting a manuscript for publication. The style should be clear and concise. Excessive use of jargon or unusual abbreviations should be avoided. Contributors must send the text, tables and figures to ejnd@ebri.it and should retain a copy of the original manuscript, as the Editor does not accept responsibility for loss of papers submitted. Papers are accepted on the understanding that no substantial part has been or will be published elsewhere. Articles will be published on line and also on paper. Submission of an article implies that the work described has not been published before, except in the form of an abstract or as part of an academic thesis. Once accepted, papers remain the copyright of the Journal.

Preparation of the text: Manuscripts should be in a Word file with double spacing and 30 mm margin on all sides and usually should not exceed 24 typed pages including figures, tables and references (approx. 300 words per page). Articles could be a bit longer according to the subject and this will be determined by the Authors in consultation with the Editor-in-Chief. The first page should bear the title of the paper, initial(s) of the first name and surname(s) of the author(s) with their affiliation(s), and postal address, tel. and fax numbers, as well as e-mail address of the corresponding author. For indexing purposes a small number of key words should be supplied.

Generally, papers should be divided into the following parts and in the order indicated: (1) SUMMARY (in capital letters): should be clear, descriptive, and self-explanatory, with no subdivisions and should not exceed 250-300 words. The Summary should be presented separately from the article so it must be able to stand alone; (2) INTRODUCTION (in capital letters): should provide the state of art of a specific topic mentioning also papers of the original discoveries, keeping in mind that many subjects who will read the articles are also young students, researchers or academic members; (3) VARIOUS SECTIONS OF THE TEXT: divide your article into clearly defined and numbered sections (in capital letters). Subsections (in italics) should be numbered 1.1 (then 1.1.1, 1.1.2, etc). Any subsections may be given a brief heading. Each heading should appear in own separate line; (4) CONCLUSIONS (in capital letters): should present clearly the main points discussed in the review; (5) ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS (capital letters) if any; (6) REFERENCES (capital letters): should be quoted in the text with authors' surname and year of publication; no more than two authors may be cited per reference; 'et al' should be used if there are more than two authors. In the reference list the citations should be listed in alphabetical order indicating authors' surnames and initials of the names and then chronologically when the same authors appear. When a manuscript contains more than seven authors, only the first four and last author should be indicated followed by 'et al' (with author's surname and initial of the name). Publications by the same author(s) in the same year should be identified with a, b, c after the year of publication. Journals should be cited according to Index Medicus and in italics. Note the following examples:

For text: Marley and Nisticò, 1972

Chao et al, 1986

For reference list: - Marley E, Nisticò G (1972) Effects of catecholamines and adenosine derivatives given into the brain of adult fowls. Br J Pharmac 46: 619-636.

References to books should include the editor(s), publisher and place of publication and year. Authors are responsible for the accuracy of their references.

Illustrations: the journal recognizes the adoption of the SI unit system. All tables and figures should be cited in order in the text, using Roman numerals for the table and Arabic numerals for figures. Tables should have a short title. Figures can be sent on a separate PDF or jpg file bearing the first author's name.

Proof-reading: page proofs will be submitted to the contributors for minor corrections and should be returned to the Editor within three days. Major alterations to the text cannot be accepted.

Editorial correspondence: all manuscripts, letters to the Editor and any correspondence regarding scientific matters, should be sent to the Editor-in-Chief: Prof. Giuseppe Nisticò, EBRI "Rita Levi-Montalcini" Foundation, Via del Fosso di Fiorano, 64-65 - 00143 Roma; Tel. +39-06-501703024; Fax +39-06-501703335; e-mail: ejnd@ebri.it and for further information the website is www.ebri.it Commercial correspondence including advertising, requests for back numbers and reprints should be sent electronically to the following e-mail: biolife\_sas@yahoo.it
